

so if the flow through the temp valve = 0, and the circulators are pumping X, then the flow through the backflow valve must be 0, and therefore the flow of hot water into system is 0.

